

NO STRIKE OF MACHINISTS YET.

Report That They Had Been Called Out Today Was Premature, It Is Said.

WANT ANOTHER CONFERENCE

Efforts Will Be Made to Secure Final
Conference With General Officers of the Road Before Calling a General Strike—Bad Time For Road.

Although it was reported in the morning papers that the machinists of the Baltimore & Ohio system had been ordered to strike, officials of the Connellsville division say this is a premature announcement and that, so far as they can learn, no action will be taken until a final conference can be secured either with Third Vice President G. L. Potter or the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors.

That there is grave danger of a strike is evidenced by the preparations being made to meet the issue all over the system. Camp trains have been equipped to carry for machinists imported from other points in case the men strike.

An air of expectancy was noticed about the shops in the yards here today. Everyone expected something to happen, but nothing did. Master Mechanic P. J. Harrigan arrived in town from Pittsburgh this morning and expected to find the men out, but learned the rumor in the Pittsburgh papers was premature.

James Quinn represents the Connellsville division machinists. He has already attended several meetings in Baltimore with the general officers of the company. The men here are well organized and would cripple the shops for a time, at least.

A strike at this time would affect the railroad worse than for months past. A great number of repairs are being made to motive power and rolling stock, preparing for the increased business which is sure to follow a resumption of the coke trade. The appropriation for the shops here during the past two months have been gradually increasing and this month it is stated the amount available for the men under Mr. Harrigan would insure steady work at 16 hours a day. During the past winter there have been times when the men would not put in more than four hours a day.

According to reports from other points the machinists are seeking to have the piecework scheme abolished and are not conducting a "sympathetic" strike. They say under the piecework plan it is impossible to make fair wages unless business is unusually brisk.

YOUGH VALLEY MINES TO RESUME ACTIVITY

Smithton and Fitz Henry Residents
Overjoyed With Prospects of Work at Various Mining Operations.

The residents of Smithton and Fitz Henry were overjoyed last week when it was officially announced that a number of mines in the vicinity would be put in operation. The collection which will resume are the Waverly mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Smithton, and the Euclid mine of the same company at Fitz Henry. Waverly mine has been closed down for 14 months, the suspension seriously affecting the business interests of the town. For many months the only mine in the valley above West Newton to be operated was Eureka, between Smithton and Jacobs Creek on the B. & O. railroad. Both at Smithton and Fitz Henry repairs are being made to the properties, and mines are being shipped preparatory to starting up. It is also stated on good authority that the Euclid mine at Jacobs Creek will shortly resume.

PLEADS SELF-DEFENSE.

Prisoner Is Said to Have Admitted
Shooting in a Camp.

LATROBE, June 1.—During a quarrel this evening Joe Wagner, 48 years old, of Latrobe, near here, was shot and instantly killed. George Scheier, 35 years old, who was placed in jail here, is said to admit he did the shooting, but pleads self-defense. Officer Harry Fry, who went to the scene of the tragedy on the Waverly branch of the Pennsylvania railroad, near Mantio, says no gun was found on the dead man.

The two men with four companions had been drinking at Brown's camp, near Mantio, and when returning home quarreled. The four men are being held as witnesses. Wagner leaves a family. Scheier lives at Mantio.

A WARM DAY.

Collars and Cuffs Wilted Quickly Yesterday Afternoon.

Owing to the intense humidity of the atmosphere yesterday it seemed much warmer than the thermometer indicated. Those who traveled to Uniontown and Shady Grove in the afternoon sweated in the heat, collars wilted away and handkerchiefs soon became like mops.

The mercury yesterday morning registered 68 rose to 82 in the evening. This morning the temperature was 73.

LOCAL GIRLS SAID TO BE RUNAWAYS

Authorities Interested in the Search
For Elizabeth Luckey and May Dillonburg of Town.

MORGANTOWN, June 1.—After tracing two runaway girls to Morgantown, W. A. Mattingly returned to his home in Connellsville at 8:29 on Baltimore & Ohio train No. 3 this morning for the purpose of following some clues gained from the local authorities as to the present whereabouts of the missing girls. The runaways are Misses Elizabeth Luckey, aged 16, and May Dillonburg, aged 20. Mattingly, who is conducting the search for the missing girls, is a brother-in-law of the youngest of the two.

The girls left their homes in Connellsville nearly a month ago, coming to Morgantown about week after their disappearance. Where they stopped in the meantime is not known as the first information as to their whereabouts was secured from this city by Mr. Mattingly. Chief of Police George Smith investigated and learned that the girls were here two weeks. Upon their arrival they took rooms at the Wallace house, moving a week later to the Lepera hotel near the B. & O. station, where they remained another week. A little more than a week ago they left Morgantown for parts unknown, and it is said in the company of a man, who is said to have been with them at the time they left Connellsville.

Word has been received here that the girls were seen later in Clarkburg, and it is thought that they may be in that city now. The facts in the case have been explained to the Clarkburg police and in case the runaways are located there, they will be placed under arrest until their relatives can take charge of them. Mr. Mattingly expects to go to Clarkburg and make an investigation on his own account.

Streets of Big City.

BROWNSVILLE, June 1.—A dispatch received here yesterday by William C. Steele from Mrs. Lou Abrams of Baltimore, states that Edward L. Abrams, a mining engineer of New York, formerly a resident of this section and an old Fayette county boy, dropped dead of apoplexy on the street yesterday in New York. Steele of this place, a cousin. His father, Lou Abrams, will be remembered by the older residents of the county as the Abrams was a prominent family in this section a few years ago. E. D. Abrams, an uncle of the deceased, was one of the best known river captains of the Monongahela and Ohio one of the few remaining captains of the old steamboat days. Owing to the brevity of the telegram it is not known here whether or not the body will be brought to Brownsville.

J. R. Smith of Connellsville
Gets a Bad Attack While Confined There.

HAD TO HAVE A HYPERDERMIO

The First Jab Didn't Do Very Much
Good But the Second One Brought Him Around and the Officers Then Shipped Him to Connellsville.

In the crowd that went over into Scotland from Dry Run county to wet their throats yesterday one Connellsville man came near being numbered among the totally dead. He gave the police force of the Mill Town some fearful minutes before they got him revived and put him on a car for Connellsville. A few minutes more without attention would have left a dead man in the cell. The man who told the police that he was J. R. Smith and that he lived on Connell avenue, was arrested in the afternoon in an intoxicated condition the police say, and was put in the Borough lockup with six others for safe keeping.

Soon after Andy Miller, a prisoner, saw that something serious was wrong with Smith and began shouting until he attracted too much attention of some one about the building and told them that Smith was sick. Clerk F. M. Newcomer, who was there, then ran down street and got the officers. Chief Frank McCauley, Austin Hyde and W. M. Koonler were called in and administered a hyperdermic injection to stimulate the heart. The first trial did little good and the officers feared that the man was beyond help. The doctor returned in a short time and administered the hyperdermic again then with better results. When Smith was brought around he was put on a car and sent home. A few more minutes in the lockup under the heart trouble that the man was experiencing would have left a dead man in the lockup. It was a most serious case.

PICKLED BRAINS AND PRESERVED SKULLS

To Show That the Negro Has the Same Mental Ability
His White Brethren

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, June 1.—A large and varied collection of pickled brains and preserved skulls occupied the center of the stage at the National Conference of the Status of a Negro which is in progress here today.

They are the exhibits of Prof. Burr G. Wilder, who uses them to prove the structure of the brain and skull of a negro is not inferior to that of a white man. Holding aloft the brain of Chimney Wright, the mathematician and philosopher, Wilder announced it was more like the brain of an illiterate mulatto than an ordinary white man's brain. Jenkins Lloyd Jones of Chicago said the crop of mulattos in the South was steadily maintained and the white man should be made to respect the white blood of which he boasted wherever it was content. He referred, scathingly to the "black blood diluted 99 per cent with the rich white blood of Kentucky."

BEISTEL STILL NERVY.

Man Who Killed Charles King Is Cool and Collected.

GREENSBURG, June 1.—John Beistel, the O'Donohy man alleged to have murdered Charles King is in jail, awaiting the action of the Grand Jury at the August term of criminal court.

It is said that since the shooting Beistel has not lost his nerve for a minute, and is cool at all times. He was not called to the witness stand, at the coroner's inquest, the evidence of others who testified being deemed sufficient.

The evidence given at the inquest showed that neither of the men were under the influence of liquor. Charlie King was very well thought of in that section where over 700 people called to pay their respects to the dead the day following the fatal shooting.

RAINSTORM PREVENTS GAME HERE TODAY

Cherubs Were Ready and So Were the Cokers But J. Pluvius
Said Not.

There was no game this afternoon between the Colots and the Cherubs. Although possessed of an angelic eloquence, the Charleroi outfit also about the best, or worst, island makers in the league for the Colots to contend with.

Evening was lovely until about 1 o'clock this afternoon when the rain came down in torrents. It halted, too, in spite of the hot weather. Groundkeeper Henry Gelpert sent word in that the field was too wet for treatment and as the shower gave no signs of letting up the game was called off. This will mean a postponement of some time later. The Colots now have two postponed games on their home books, one with Fairmont and another with the Cherubs.

Less Than 100 Were in Service
Today.

United Press Telegram.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Today, the fourth of the strike of the employees of the Rapid Transit Company, shows conditions worse than any previous day. There are fewer cars running and out of a total of 3,000 cars ordinarily running not more than 100 were taken out of the yards this morning. Thousands walked on 29th and 30th streets to their places of employment.

W. J. Brown, President of the carmen's Union, said today the strike may last several months. Of the 500 strikebreakers brought here by the company more than 200 are ready to return to their homes. Frightened by the receipt of notices from the Black Guard and "Don't" letters, many refused to work today.

This is a dispute over the ownership of a certain property near Brownsville and resulted from an attempted eviction on the part of Higinbotham on Easter Sunday. Higinbotham claims to have purchased the property from a brother of Mrs. Pouch and presented a paper purporting to be a release of her claim.

At the hearing this morning, Mrs. Edwards, a daughter of Mrs. Pouch, declared the signature was not that of her mother. Mrs. Pouch, who said, cannot write the English letters, and her handwriting has an unmistakable foreign appearance.

CORBIN PAID LICENSE; RANKER IS CREDITED

Error Somewhere in Borough Audit
But Secretary Brown Knows
Who Came Up With Money.

W. L. Corbin found his name was not included in the borough audit as having paid a license fee of $25 as a garbage hauler. This caused him to investigate and led to the discovery that the amount had been credited in the printed report to John Ranker, another hauler, who had not paid his fee.

Corbin knew he had paid, because he was arrested for non-payment at the time. Whether the mistake was made by the Borough Treasurer Rutter, former Clerk W. J. G. Corbin, Clerk A. D. Soisson, the Auditors, Tax Collector and Secretary of the Board of Health G. D. Brown or the newspapers is not definitely settled. The last named say they read the report by "copy" and made no mistake. "No other list of distinguished citizens can place the responsibility as they feel inclined, but Corbin's license stands as paid.

The policeman followed the stranger for some blocks and noticed his anxiety to avoid surveillance. Lowe finally cornered him along Pittsburgh street.

"I want you," said Lowe in a low tone of voice.

"All right, what for?" inquired the "mute." He went to the lockup and will be given a hearing by Burgess Evans.

STATE GETS LIEN ON THE HOSPITALS

Must Give Bond Appropriations—
Will Be Used for Benefit of Public.

HARRISBURG, June 1.—No more State money will be paid to hospitals and other private charities for permanent improvements without a binding contract that the buildings erected or enlarged shall be used for the benefit of the public as intended. Bonds requiring the signatures of directors or trustees of all private charities to which the Legislature this year appropriated money for new buildings or other permanent improvements are being prepared, which provide that the money received from the State shall constitute a non-interest bearing lien on the property, and the Commonwealth may recover the entire amount if at any time an attempt is made to turn the property to private account or use it for other purposes than those specified in the charter of the institution.

Until these bonds are returned with the proper signatures attached the institutions cannot draw any of the money appropriated for permanent improvements.

Shortly after the Legislature convened a report was published that the manager of a big tuberculosis sanatorium would grant no further appropriations, to close the institution to charity patients, although the building had been erected in part by State money appropriated by previous Legislatures.

The possibility of a general adoption of such a policy opened the eyes of the Legislature leaders to the unsoundness of the method in passing out the public millions to private charities, which, having enjoyed the bounty of the Commonwealth, might at any time convert the State-built property into institutions for purely private profit.

Speaker Cox, President pro tem, Soisson and Chairman Woodward and Crawford conferred and agreed upon the new plan, and in every appropriation bill a clause was inserted providing for the State lien as a prerequisite to drawing the State money. The Auditor General is now preparing to take the bond of the beneficiaries of State appropriations that they will not abuse the generosity of the Commonwealth.

HEARD HUSBAND FALL TO DEATH.

I. D. Kammerer, One of Town's First Mail Carriers,
Meets Tragic Death.

50 FOOT FALL OVER CLIFF

Accident Occurred Near His Home
Last Night, and While His Wife Was Sitting Upon Porch Waiting for His Home Coming—Was a Socialist.

Within one hundred yards from his home, the old Baskley homestead in East alley, Isaiah D. Kammerer, one of the first mail carriers in Connellsville and a well known Socialist and labor leader, met his death by falling over a 50 foot cliff. His neck was broken and his death is thought to have been instantaneous. Mr. Kammerer left home at 3 o'clock in the evening calling his wife and children that he would return home for the evening meal. About 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Kammerer was sitting on her porch waiting her husband's return when she heard the crashing of the bushes a few rods away. Mrs. Kammerer accompanied by her son and Miss Gushwick, a neighbor lady, immediately hurried to the scene of the accident and came upon the body of Mrs. Kammerer's husband. S. M. Goodman, J. C. Lytle and J. B. Marietta carried the body to his home and Mrs. M. S. Shupe and J. F. Kerr were immediately summoned.

Mr. Kammerer was the son of Jacob and Elizabeth Kammerer and was born in Somerset county 42 years ago. At an early age he learned the carpenter trade which occupation he followed until several years after coming to Connellsville where he secured the position of mail carrier. Twenty-two years ago he was married to Miss Margaret Perner. Practically all their married life was spent in Connellsville. For the past several years Mr. Kammerer has been in delicate health and several years ago resigned as a mail carrier owing to his ill health. SEATTLE FAIR OPENS ON TIME.

President Taft Presses Button That Starts Wheels in Motion.

THE KEY IS OF GOLD NUGGETS

Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition Is Under Way. With Buildings and Grounds Completed and Exhibits in Place.

Seattle, Wash. June 1.—The Alaska-Yukon Pacific exposition is open. At 12 o'clock Seattle thus President Taft pressed the button which set the machinery in motion, using for the purpose a key termed of Alaska nuggets. As the wheels in the various buildings began whirling and the latest of the world's fairs was declared officially opened on a feature that excited the enthusiastic curiosity of the thousands of people present was that the man who had lived up to its motto of the show that will be on time. Not only were the buildings completed and the grounds covered with grass and flowers as though they had been in place for years, but every exhibit was in place. It is the first time any exposition has actually opened on the opening day and the departure has proved most welcome to the visiting thousands.

President Taft Presses Button. The ceremonies on the grounds began two hours before President Taft on the other side of the continent pressed the button that made the great fair a living thing. The scene presented carried out Charles D. Folsom a resident after visiting the grounds that the A-Y-P is the most beautiful exposition ever planned. It is the first of two fresh water lakes in a forest of great trees, with one open canal showing a background from different angles the natural setting to the pleasure is ideal. There are the usual things seen at an exposition, with the advantage that many of these are to be permanent and after the fair is closed on Oct. 15 will be turned over to the University of Washington on whose campus the fair is held. The fact that the exposition grounds belong to a college is the cause of a third feature, which is that this is a "day" above, no intoxicating liquors being sold in the vicinity. Still a fourth unique feature is that this exposition did not ask Uncle Sam for a cent. The $600,000 which was spent on the government buildings was given voluntarily. The money was raised by come departures and have created a favorable comment.

Originally it was intended to make this latest of the expositions simply an Alaska fair on which $100,000 would be spent. Then the plan grew to include the Yukon and Alaska was concluded to make it a representative of the entire Pacific civilization that is awakening and springing into being all about the shores of the world's greatest ocean. It ended up by spending at least a hundred times the amount first contemplated.

Commemorative of No Past Event. The A-Y-P is a commemorative of no past event. It is a thing upon to-morrow rather than yesterday, a prophecy rather than a memorial. It exhibits what are unknown and undeveloped the possibilities of the Pacific northwest, and it is a thing bordering on the Pacific. Otherwise stated, it is an exposition of what is very largely unknown rather than of the highest development Alaska has reached first in the title and inspiration of the exposition. This territory, for which two and a half million acres were set aside in 1867, produces three times that amount every year in gold alone. In the last forty years it has produced, besides its gold $30,000,000 worth of furs and its fisheries have handled a product valued at $50,000,000. The exposition serves to show Americans that Alaska is an empire of agriculture and forest wealth as well as a treasure box of minerals.

But, while the exposition is important as a means of exploiting Alaska, it has a much broader aspect and significance. It serves to focus attention upon the undeniable fact that Seattle, the chief city of Puget sound, is the natural center to the greatest of the world's markets. It is the shortest road to the great promising fields of trade and commerce in the Orient and the focus of northwestern development in the United States.

The far eastern countries bordering on the Pacific. Finding the Philippines and Hawaii have the most elaborate exhibits at Seattle that they have ever attempted anywhere. Here it is possible to find out what these countries need as well as what they produce. Japan produces more than any other eastern nation has. It has the commercial importance of the exposition and its official representation has been carried out on a comprehensive scale.

For the amusement of the exposition a novel novel and many novel features have been found. What is the midway at this use the Pike at Seattle. The Trail to the Portland exposition and the Warrenton at French town is called the Pax Streak at Seattle.

MEYERSDALE.

MEYERSDALE, May 31.—While the old soldiers Memorial services were held yesterday, Decoration Day was generally observed here today. All stores and business places were closed in noon and remained closed the balance of the day. The only attraction was a one-sided and uninteresting game of baseball between the locals and a team from Meadland, Md., the score resulting 13 to 0 in favor of the visitors. The Meadland team clinched the victory in the first two innings with all the scoring was done and while the locals could keep the visitors from scoring, still could not run they could not hit hard enough to win. They were a secure victory for them.

STANDING ARMY IS NECESSARY.

So Declares President on Gettysburg Battlefield.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO REGULARS

Present Standing Army Barely Commensurate With Increase in Country's Population, He Asserts, and Should by No Means Be Decreased.

Gettysburg, Pa. June 1.—President Taft, delivering the principal speech at the unveiling here of a splendid granite monument erected by congress to the memory of the men of the regular army who fell in the three days' fighting that turned back the rising tide of the Confederacy, paid a high tribute to the regulars and declared the necessity of maintaining always a standing army of appreciable size to serve as the nucleus for a greater armed force in time of need.

The president asserted that the present standing army is barely commensurate with the increase in population of the country from the early days of the republic and should by no means be decreased.

Easy to Awaken Prejudice. Mr. Taft said in part: "The danger of a standing army, entertained by our ancestors is seen in the constitutional restrictions and the complaints registered in the declaration of independence. It has always been easy to awaken prejudice against the possible aggressions of a regular army and a professional soldiery are correspondingly difficult to create among the people that love and pride in the army which we find today and frequently in the history of the country aroused on behalf of the navy. This has led to a varied and changeable policy in respect to the regular army. It has been reduced to almost nothing."

In 1874 there were but eighty men who constituted the regular army of the United States and of these Battery F of the Fourth artillery were fifty-five of them, but generally the absolute necessities in the defense of the country against the small wars, which embrace so large a part of our history have induced the maintenance of a regular force small to be sure, but one so well trained and effective as always to reflect credit upon the nation.

In the year of 1812 we had a regular army of 10,000 men, trained as such an army would have been, we should have been spared the humiliation of the numerous levies of untrained troops and the enormous expense of raising an army on paper of 400,000 or 500,000 men, because with an effective force of 10,000 men, we might have promptly captured Canada and ended the war.

Hardships Never Fully Realized. To the little army of 25,000 men that survived the Civil war we owe the opening up of the entire western country. The hardships and the trials of frontier Indian campaigns which made possible the construction of the Pacific railroads have never been fully recognized by our people. Today as a result of the Spanish war the added responsibilities of our new dependencies, together with a sense of the importance of our position as a world power have led to the increase in our regular army to a larger force than ever before in the history of the country, but not larger in proportion to the increase in the population and wealth than in the past. The profession of arms has always been an honorable one. The general purpose of congress and the American people if one can say there is a plan or purpose is to have such a nucleus as a regular army that it may furnish a skeleton for rapid enlargement in times of war to a force ten or twenty times its size and at the same time be an appropriate instrument for accomplishing the purpose of the government in crises likely to arrive other than a war."

NEWS OF A DAY IN SCOTSDALE.

Frick Car Shop Clerks Get Down to Rush Orders.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

Verona Indians and Home Boys Play
Two Games At Ellsworth Park.
Alleged Robber Captured—Loucks
Suit Up in Court—Other Notes.

SCOTSDALE, June 1.—The resumption of the H. C. Frick Coke Company with 1,200 men ordered in last evening, was the cause of cutting short the holiday time of the office force of the H. C. Frick car shops at Ellsworth, who were called at 10 o'clock to the hold of rush orders for materials for cars and other work that the Frick car shops does for the company. The seven clerks were picked up wherever they could be found, and one of them last night, and were out on the work of figuring and ordering needed material. It is the best sign of good times that has struck the shops.

Memorial Day. Memorial Day was observed here Monday forenoon with a parade of the Grand Army Band, the Sons of Veterans firing squad, and the old veterans out to the Centennial and Catholic Cemeteries. There were only 11 members of the Grand Army in line and many remarked on the rapidly thinning ranks. Some day there will be only one to go from Scottdale, and that day seems coming fast, to the sorrow of many people. At the cemetery Rev. D. W. Michael, pastor of the Lutheran Church, delivered the prayer and short services were held. There were many people out there. On Sunday evening the cemetery was crowded and many graves were decorated in the cool of the evening when the flowers would not fade.

Craft Band Was Popular. Squire John C. Brownfield and a part of the Old Craft Marital Band spent yesterday at Addison where they played for the Memorial Day services at that beautiful town, and they received the best of treatment. They were at Addison last year. Another part of the band went to Fayette City but did not arrive home last evening.

A Successful Opening. E. J. Patterson who has closed the family theatre on Broadway to take charge of the Geyer Opera House, had a most successful opening yesterday, the big house being filled for the matinee and night performances. A very creditable bill was given, H. F. Blaney of Pittsburgh, who sang at the last Republican rally here, is billed for three nights of song this week. He is well known in Scottdale, and is very popular.

The Loucks Suit Up. The suit of the Loucks Hardware Company against the Borough in which they are trying to establish the fact that the Borough of Scottdale owes them for 3,200 feet of 24 inch sewer pipe for the Anderson Run sewer, and which pipe the Borough rejected, came up before Judge McConnell at Greensburg yesterday morning, and the plaintiffs side heard until noon when the court adjourned. The case was continued this morning. The Scottdale Borough dads did not like the looks of the pipe that they had got from McKeesport and refused to have them.

Andy Miller Arrested. Andy Miller was arrested here last evening on Sunday accused with participating in the robbery of the L. W. Hill store at West Overton and W. F. Coughenour's place at Woodside. Chief of Police Frank McCadden and State Constable Elmer Gjersten were after Miller and another man but the other one escaped. McCadden fired a shot over Miller's head that hit him, but the other fellow kept running.

Ellsworth Park Games. The two games at Ellsworth park yesterday afternoon were well attended and the grand stand and bleachers were several times in excitement during the progress of the contests. The Verona Indians were the visitors and took the first one of the two games, while the Scottdale A. C. took the second game which followed it immediately, with a score of 2 to 1, in five innings. Hockenbury and Hocken were the batter for the home team. The score of the first game was as follows:

HORATIO S. DUMBAULD,

Candidate for Judge on Democratic Ticket.

Advertisement.
[Address of Fayette county's government can best be administered by keeping the office of judge from being distributed among those competent to fill it, and by keeping it in his own private possession.]
What has caused this change of heart? Have the "honors and emoluments of the office" affected such a radical departure from the earlier view of the Judge?
I hear what he now says in letter dated May 24, 1909:
"The duties, old and new, of the position are so varied and important that it requires years to become acquainted with and properly exercise them, and it is only applying reasonable business methods to continue the services of a man in any important position who understands and performs his duties."
"Every lawyer has friends who would like to see him judge, but since it cannot be passed around to all lawyers, is it wise to change and put out one, if he understands and does his duty, and put in another who must learn many things by experience?"
Now please show us, Judge Umbel, how we can obtain "a distribution of the public offices among those competent to fill them," without having to "put out one" and "put in another."
I read the above quotations, one from letter of October 12, 1909, the other from letter of May 24, 1909, and see if you can discover that "continued consistency" characteristic of Candidate Umbel?
Democrats, will you vote next Saturday for Umbel and "monopoly," or for Dumbauld and "distribution?"
He is now much in favor of a monopoly in the office of judge when confined to one member of the Umbel family.
It was then of the opinion that "the affairs of our government are better administered by administration of the public offices among those competent to fill them."
He is now of the opinion that the Railroad Man Deplores Statement Made by Merchant.

Says It Is Unfortunate and Unfair That They Should Criticize Machinists and Boilermakers.

"It is unfortunate," said a prominent railroad man last night, "that the merchants of town should be brought into the controversy now going on among the railroad machinists and boiler makers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and especially is it unkind, and ungenerous of any merchant of town to declare the machinists and boiler makers do not pay their bills, and that they are far behind in their accounts, as stated in a local paper."
"If you will look over the list of Connellsville machinists and boiler makers employed by the B. & O. you will see that the large majority of them are in the local shops, have lived here and raised families and are respected about town. It is a mean, contemptible slap to say that they are mere tramps and do not pay their bills. It is easy enough for the large majority of them to go to any of the reputable stores of town and secure what they need. They have their homes and their families, and if the unfortunate strike that is now going on and neglecting their duties continues indefinitely they are still in a position to earn a livelihood."
"The merits of the strike are, it seems not matters of public import. They represent a principle, just as the railroad represents one. They, of the majority of them have given the best years of their lives to the Baltimore & Ohio and in their values throbs the love of a company that has given them bread and butter, but also there is the contention for justice as they see it."
"Throughout the long summer and winter when times were hard and money scarce with work even scarcer, they never murmured, but took the time given them and when pay day rolled around they accepted the paltry salary. Big able bodied men, willing to do more than a 10 hour day. They were hopeful and sincere and thought of the days they had earned a livelihood at these same occupations. Even then they paid their bills, narrow as the margin was upon which to go."
"Now it is another principle they are striving for, and win or lose, it is their fight. But all fair minded people will say, and say it truthfully, too, that the unkindest thing of all, especially on the part of the merchants, is the statement that they have failed to pay their bills. I am sure that if any merchant made such a statement he did not make it in sincerity and cannot prove his assertion. If you will just think for a while, some of the wealthiest men of the nation are unable to secure money, cash, I mean at the present time, but also they disburse?"
"All sides of this strike have not been brought out yet, because the men are hopeful and anxious to have it ended. Everyone knows that work now is work, a livelihood and all that. But we have not been treated as fairly as some people would make it seem. One of the most significant parts of this agreement states that we shall have 30 days notice, and the company shall have the same in an event like this but we have not had it, and truthfully it is not so much a sympathetic strike as anyone would imagine."
"It is not a question of arguing strike differences now, it is more to the point to find out who and what Connellsville merchants are so anxious about the machinists and boiler makers bills as to publicly announce that they do not pay them."
"It is after all a splendid inducement to send away from home for the things that are needed by them, for the strike and other strikes and factional differences are only of the day, while the merchant and the machinist both hope to be living tomorrow, the next day and the day after, but the machinist does not have to patronize those who attack and criticize him without warrant or reason."

SUCCESSOR TO SENATOR HOPKINS OF ILLINOIS.

WILLIAM LORIMER

William Lorimer, who will succeed Senator Hopkins of Illinois, is serving his sixth term in the lower house of Congress. He is a native of Manchester, England, and came to America in 1870. He is 38 years old when he was 12 years old his father died, and the lad became a sign painter's apprentice. Later he was employed in Chicago packing houses and then became a street car conductor, graduating from that sphere into the real estate and general contracting business. Two years ago he was a power in ward politics. Personal magnetism, loyalty to his political friends and a keen knowledge of the game have kept him in the public eye ever since.

Although more than a thousand fans went to Uniontown yesterday and helped swell the receipts for the afternoon Memorial Day contest in that village, the listless locals didn't seem to care a bit and played a game that the Church league would have been ashamed to own. They started out by scoring a run off Limre right at the start but when Livengood went in with the bases full and only one out, and then retired the Connellsville batters with ease. It seemed to take the starch right out of Sweeney's men.

The fourth inning was Cannon's Waterloo, but previous to that three drives into right field went for three bases when neither should have been good for more than a single. The blinding sun which shines directly into a field's eyes, blinded the batters and he made a sorry spectacle of himself in the position. There is even a hint here, however, because only a few used to the field could have played it safely yesterday. The right fielder Phillips led out in the first inning, retired, among the automobiles which crowded along the foul line, and the hit was good for two-thirds of the circuit.

In the fourth inning every man on the Uniontown team faced Cannon. Carnes led off with a single and McCloskey sacrificed. Tiffany added the ball and three batters to Giffigan, who covered first. Summers singled and scored Carnes. Livengood batted against one for a base and McCloskey walked home. Jimmy Miller hit to Hazen and forced Sweeney at third. Hilley drew a pass but Phillips led out in the first inning, retired, among the automobiles which crowded along the foul line, and the hit was good for two-thirds of the circuit.

The score was then 1 to 1, but Sweeney decided to let Cannon take his medicine. He cut a big drive in the following inning. Carnes singled and went to second on a passed ball. McCloskey sent him to third on a sacrifice. Sweeney singled and Carnes scored. Livengood walked. Miller singled and the bases were full but Hilley fouled to Fraley, who landed the ball almost to the spectators near the grandstand, and Phillips fouled to Hazen.

In the sixth inning Catter was sent in to pitch. Myers supplanted Calhoun in right and Summers took third. Catter inaugurated his stay in the game by throwing Phillips' grounder with Carles sacrificed and Phillips scored on a single by Carnes. Uniontown got Ensworth run in the sixth when Carnes singled and went around on McCloskey's double to right. Myers returned the ball to Giffigan, who threw over Fraley's head attempting to cut off the run.

The Cokers scored once, and only once. Morgan drew a pass, advanced on Giffigan's sacrifice and tallied when the pitcher leaped against the ball for a strike through short. Hazen singled and Calhoun walked but at this juncture Mr. Limre, who started the game, was ejected and Livengood retired Chip Francis and Tiffany on fly.

Sops and Sighs.

Even break.

Church league ball.

Rudolph was given a two bagger on his hit to center. Chip Francis clearly booted the ball but the Uniontown scorer said not.

Livengood hails from Ft. Marion. He is a heavyweight. Apparently has something, too.

Although the Cokers found Livengood an enigma, McCloskey wasn't so confident. He made Fletcher get into Abe Kruger's uniform and stand ready for work.

Abe viewed the game from the bench. He is under suspension for neglecting to remit $5 to President Groninger. It's the same fine Abe had attached to him in Tuesday's game with Connellsville.

Calhoun's work looked yellow from the stands. The fans couldn't see the sun the way Dave did.

Myers held everything that came his way; held it too long some people thought.

Morgan got three bases on a hit. Phillips expected to throw him out at first on. It was a nice drive, too.

Summers got the other real, nice, clean hit. It went over Hilley's head for a single.

Just now Mr. Morgan looks about as good as any man on the team. Phillips' sacrifice was a deal here.

Good thing there is no home-run column. It would be overworked. Brainless plays were common in yesterday's game.

McCloskey gave his life enough. After the game he had a chance for a drink.

He made a sorry spectacle of himself in the position. There is even a hint here, however, because only a few used to the field could have played it safely yesterday.

CORNELL HAS EASY TIME

Harvard Is Beaten In Both Varsity and Freshman Events.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 1.—The Cornell team met and easily defeated Harvard in both the varsity and freshman events for eight-oared crews on Cayuga lake, winning the big race by a length and a half, and the freshmen event by four lengths. In both races Cornell led from start to finish.

The water conditions were almost ideal and large crowds viewed the races. The Cornellians led by a small margin to the mile. At the last quarter Harvard gallantly tried to spur, but their effort met with a vigorous reply from Cornell and the Courtney crew dashed across the line a length and a half to the good.

Picks Up $10,000 Easily.

New York, June 1.—In a listless race which degenerated into a walking match by the time the twentieth mile had been run, Louis Orpheo of France took the measure of fourteen competitors and won a $10,000 professional International Marathon run at Brighton beach.

This Ball Game a Hummer.

Bloomington, Ill., June 1.—Bloomington and Decatur of the Three I league broke the world's professional record for long baseball games, playing twenty-six innings. Decatur won 2 to 1. The grounds were muddy and slippery, but the fielding on both sides was extraordinary.

Three Days' Rest For Evers.

New York, June 1.—Acting President John Heydler of the National league has suspended Second Baseman John Evers of the Chicago Cubs for three days for using abusive language to Umpire Johnstone in a game with Pittsburgh.

Will It Stay Blue?

That's what you want to know about a blue serge suit before you buy it.

NEARER purple than blue, are a lot of the serge suits that you see being worn, after the sun has had "a crack at them," and they look mighty tough, don't they? Poor serge will not hold its color. It cannot. And that is the one important question you should ask when you buy a suit of blue serge: "Will it hold its color?" The man that tells you "he don't know," is either not honest or don't know his business. We haven't a blue serge suit in our store but that we can tell you it will remain the same deep rich blue that it is when you buy it.

There is no material so distinctly suited to summer wear as blue serge. It is thin and cool, yet has excellent wearing qualities that no other material as thin, possesses in a like degree. It is dressy decidedly so; every man admits that, but the ones who have owned the kind that "turned purple" are a trifle skeptical about the "color question." That is eliminated here. We guarantee that our blue serges are "true blue," that they'll never "change colors." We know this. Our clothing man knows his business. It won't cost you a penny more to secure "the kind that stays blue" than it does to buy the one of "changing moods" and any man who has ever worn a "good" blue serge suit through the "heated term" is strong for them.

We show them in several models, all of them authentic in style and perfect in every point of tailoring, wide peg leg trousers, perfectly draping coats, close fitting collars and lapels, novel collar and cuff treatments. There are many conservative models as well for the man who prefers plain, yet telling tailoring. There are other serges priced as high as $25.00. You'll see more blue serges here than anywhere else in town and it's all the sort that stays blue.

Land of Massacres.

There is nothing like personal familiarity with a locality to arouse a real interest in news concerning it. Even if that news be of so startling a character as to merit the name of a massacre. Poor Adana, the province in Asiatic Turkey where many Armenians have recently been killed, there was a time when I knew its broad, fertile valleys, its streams, its luxuriant gardens and the wild mountains that hem the fertile valley in. For I went there in a smart corvet and fetched away a marble sarcophagus that had held the remains of a Roman princess for a thousand years and more before it came to be a show piece in the New York Metropolitan museum. Now I venture the assertion that not one person in ten thousand who has read the late startling dispatches ever heard the pretty name before or knew whether it belonged to a town or a district or where to locate it except as indefinitely somewhere in the sultan's Asiatic dominion. In fact the general tenor of the dispatches, where the name is found indiscriminately classed with Aleppo, Beirut, Damascus, etc., gives the natural impression that it is some place in Syria. If old St. Paul were alive he would surely pour out the vials of his ready wrath upon any one who dared to call him a Syrian for he was a Cilician, and the Roman province of Cilicia of his day is the vilayet of Adana today.

OR to the northeast of the island of Cyprus, just after the ninth and makes a sharp bend from running north along the Syrian coast to west along that of Asia Minor, lies this the finest natural granary of the whole Mediterranean coast, and its three principal towns of Mersina, Tarsus and Adana lie almost in line completely through its center. Riding and camping out on the banks of the Cydnus our care free band heard from the native story tellers traditions innumerable of the fair land that is so unfortunately located as to have been the battleground of nations since the dawn of history. The name of the mythical Sardanapalus is claimed as that of the founder of every town and village. Within its boundaries Alexander the Great won the most famous of his victories. Pompey the Great reached the pinnacle of his fame here when his legions captured the province for Rome, scarcely thirty years before St. Paul was born. Then the Arabian Moslems swept up and across it from the east; the savage Armenians from the mountains in the north devastated it; the Christian emperor Baldwin of Constantinople brought fire and sword from the west; Greeks and Venetians harried the coast from the south, and so down the centuries the little province simply from being a military key to surrounding peoples was kept in poverty and desolation until the great Maroun-Raschid gave it the new name of
